

St. Paul's Primary School
Preparing our children for life in modern Britain

At St. Paul's Primary School we uphold and teach pupils about the value of:

- Democracy
- Rule of law
- Individual Liberty
- Mutual Respect
- Tolerance of those of different faiths and beliefs.

These are based on principles inherent within Human Rights and Equality Law promoting:

- Inclusion
- Diversity
- Tolerance
- Kindness
- Compassion
- Social Justice
- Democracy
- The rights of individuals to be heard

At St. Paul's School we will actively challenge pupils, staff, visitors, governors or parents expressing opinions contrary to fundamental British values, including 'extremist' views and those inciting or encouraging hateful or harmful behaviours.

We work with pupils to enable them to develop values that will support them in living in a community that is free from hatred and where they actively contribute to developing a community of tolerance, kindness, cohesion, social justice, respect and dignity.

These values are taught explicitly through Personal, Social, Health and Emotional (PSHE) and Religious Education (RE). We also teach these values through planning and delivering a broad and balanced curriculum, assemblies, the School Council and staff behaviours and actions.
